News: Dan Wilford Inducted to Health Care Hall of Fame

We are proud to announce that Therapy Track Advisory Board member Dan Wilford is one of four new members to the Health Care Hall of Fame.

The four newest members are: brothers William and Charles Mayo, founders of the Mayo Clinic; and two former presidents and chief executive officers of large healthcare systems, Patricia Cahill of Catholic Health Initiatives and Dan Wilford of Memorial Hermann Healthcare System. The annual honors program is sponsored by Modern Healthcare, and the winners are determined by a panel of judges selected from the industry.

Wilford was president and CEO of Memorial Hermann in Houston from 1984 until 2002, and saw the system grow from three hospitals into one of the largest not-for-profits in Texas that now includes eight owned hospitals and more than a dozen others in affiliation agreements. He continues as adviser to the system.

The new inductees were honored at a ceremony March 22 at the Hilton Chicago in conjunction with the American College of Healthcare Executives' 2009 Congress on Healthcare Leadership.
