Time/Money Connection

Check out this insightful article on the phenomenon behind highly computerized health care facilities in ADVANCE for Directors in Rehab. Therapy Track is a great example of a small investment in a computerized operations tool that yields multiple gains for managers with good intuition and judgment who reinvest labor savings in ways that benefit the institution...

The Value of Persistence

Calvin Coolidge once said that "nothing in the world can take the place of persistence..."

This is obviously never more true than for directors and managers, who must consistently deal with a succession of problems while maintaining their equilibrium. The only way to maintain your sanity in handling these difficulties is to be persistent in handling one at a time.

People often compound their problems and increase stress by worrying about all of their problems at once. This can make you feel like there is no solution! When you find yourself in this position, take your most critical problem, give it all your thought and do something about it. When you've solved it, or at least done everything you possibly can, pick another problem and "press on."

If you've done your best to persistently deal with one issue at a time, you will feel less stress and more power to face the inevitable challenges.

Therapy Track's motto is:

If you can't measure it, you can't reward it. If you can't reward it, you can't improve it.
